

Poker Hands

Examples of standard game poker hands in order from Best to Worst

The Royal Flush

The best hand you can get, Cards all of the Same suit and in running order from Ten upto the Ace. Split pot if one or more people have this hand

A Straight Flush

5 cards of the same suit in running order, the higher the run of cards goes upto the better the hand is. If two players have the same its a split pot

Four of a Kind

Any four cards of a kind, Once again the highest value set of 4 cards wins. 4 Kings would beat 4 Queens ect... with Aces been the highest

Full House

Three of one and Two of the other. The highest three cards determines the winner in a tie situation, Three 9's would beat three 8's

A Flush

Any 5 cards of the same suit. If more than one person has a flush it goes to highest card, A Queen King or Ace would beat a Jack flush

A Straight

5 cards all in a run, but not of the same suit, once again the highest card of the run decides who has the better hand.

Three of a Kind

3 cards of the same value. The higher the set of 3 cards the better the hand is with three Aces been the best.

Two Pairs

Two pairs of cards. The highest pair wins and if more than one player has the same cards the highest card left over determines the winner.

One Pair

The highest pair wins. If one or more person has the same pair it goes to the next highest card.

High Card

If no one has a better hand then Highest card wins, if one or more people have the same card it goes to the next highest and so on.

18 The legal age to gamble is 18+

Poker hands from www.all-poker-sites.com